Answer the questions based on the following passage.

Global police customs officials have concluded the most widespread environmental crime operation ever organized, involving 109 countries and resulting in nearly 2,000 seizures of protected wildlife, including 440 ivory pieces, more than 4,300 birds, and nearly 10,000 live turtles and tortoises, according to Interpol.

The effort, coordinated by Interpol and the World Customs Organization (WCO), identified nearly 600 suspects and spurred arrests around the world. Dubbed Operation Thunder ball, it's the third in a series —Interpol executed Operation Thunderbird in 2017 and Operation Thunderstorm in 2018, both of which targeted the illegal wildlife and timber trade and resulted in thousands of seizures.

The illegal wildlife trade is a multibillion dollar criminal enterprise. It's the primary threat to the survival of numerous species, including African elephants, which are targeted for their ivory; pangolins, which are targeted for use in traditional Chinese medicine, and many species of birds and reptiles, which enter the exotic pet trade. Wildlife crime is linked to corruption, money laundering, and other forms of organized crime.

Wildlife crime has spiked in recent years, which is why Interpol and the WCO decided to join forces, says Roux Raath, WCO's environment program manager. "The demand for wildlife products is increasing, the world population is increasing," he says.

The operation focused on identifying trafficking routes and crime hot spots ahead of time, with the aim of preventing wildlife crime from occurring. "When we start working, most of the time, it's too late in terms of conservation," says Henri Fournel, Interpol's coordinator of environmental security. "We just want to make it clear to the criminals that…we are just watching them."

Operation Thunder ball is "not a numbers game," says the WCO's Raath. The number of seizures has gone down over the years, which means law enforcement efforts are leading to the "dismantling of criminal networks," he says.

"If we keep the pressure on and if we clamp down on specific routes and specific countries," Raath says, "that forces criminals to either look at different commodities or either different countries, different routes....It's changing the patterns."

This is the key to dealing with wildlife crime, says Susan Lieberman, vice president of international policy for the New York-based Wildlife Conservation Society—it's about targeting the "criminal networks that are driving this horrendous crime," not individuals. She says its "fantastic" that Interpol and the WCO are aiming to disrupt criminal networks, and to be most effective, the countries have to follow up with prosecutions.

"A lot of times we see seizures, and then nothing happens," she says. "People have to go to jail, particularly the people running these networks—the spider in the centre of the web."

निम्नलिखित गद्यांश को पढ़कर दिए गए प्रश्न का उत्तर दें।

साहित्य का आधार जीवन है। इसी नींव पर साहित्य की दीवार खड़ी होती है। उसकी अटारियां मीनार और गुम्बद बनते हैं। लेकिन बुनियादें मिट्टी के नीचे दबी पड़ी रहती हैं। उन्हें देखने को भी जी नहीं चाहेगा। जीवन परमात्मा की सृष्टि है, इसलिए सुबोध है, सुगम है, और मर्यादाओं से परिमित है। जीवन परमात्मा को अपने कार्यों का जवाबदेह है या नहीं, हमें मालूम नहीं, लेकिन साहित्य तो मनुष्य के सामने जवाबदेह है इसके लिए कानून है जिसके इधर-उधर वह नहीं हो सकता। लेकिन जीवन का उद्देश्य ही आनंद है। मनुष्य जीवन पर्यत्न आनन्द की खोज में रहता है। किसी को वह रत्नद्व्य में मिलता है, किसी को भरे पूरे परिवार में, किसी को लम्बे चौड़े भवन में, किसी को ऐश्वर्य में। लेकिन साहित्य का आनन्द इस आनन्द से ऊँचा है। इससे पवित्र है, उसका आधार सुन्दर और सत्य है। वास्तव में सच्चा आनन्द सुन्दर और सत्य से मिलता है। उसी आनन्द को दरसाना, वही आनन्द उत्पन्न करना साहित्य का उद्देश्य है। ऐश्वर्य या भोग के आनन्द में ग्लानि छिपी होती है। उसमें अरूचि भी हो सकती है, पश्चाताप भी हो सकता है, पर सुन्दर से जो आनन्द प्राप्त होता है, वह अखण्ड है, अमर है।
