Directions (71-79): Read the given passage and answer the following questions. Some parts have been highlighted to aid in answering the questions.

Ato was a young man who lived in a small village in the mountains. The village had been suffering from an ancient salt deficiency for generations. The soil was so poor that it couldn't produce crops, and the people were forced to eat tasteless food. They were also weak and sickly, and many of them died young. The man was determined to find a way to help his people. He travelled far and wide, seeking out knowledge about salt and how to produce it. He met with wise men and scholars, and he studied ancient texts. He even travelled to distant lands, where he learned about the salt mines of other cultures.

After many years, Ato finally returned to his village with the knowledge he had sought. He told the people of his village about salt and how it could help them. He also told them about the salt mines he had seen in other lands.

The people were sceptical at first. They had never heard of salt before, and they didn't believe that it could help them. But the man was patient and persistent. He taught the people how to grow crops that required salt, and he showed them how to build a salt mine.

It took many years, but eventually the people of the village were able to overcome their salt deficiency. They were able to grow healthy crops, and they were no longer weak and sickly. Ato was hailed as a hero, and he is still remembered today as the man who saved his village.

Q73. How did the villagers initially react to Ato's knowledge about salt?
(a) They were excited and immediately started implementing his ideas to alleviate their struggles.
(b) They were sceptical and didn't believe salt could be a solution to their long-standing problem.

Sol. The correct answer is (c) “Ancient salt deficiency that had plagued the village for generations, affecting both crops and health.”. The passage mentions that the village had been suffering from an ancient salt deficiency for generations, leading to poor soil and tasteless food. This deficiency affected both crop growth and the health of the villagers.
No other option answers the question as appropriately and completely.

S72. Ans.(d)
Sol. The correct answer is (d) “By seeking knowledge about salt and its production to combat the salt deficiency issue”. The passage states that Ato travelled far and wide seeking knowledge about salt and its production to help his people overcome the salt deficiency issue that had plagued them for generations.
No other option answers the question as appropriately and completely.

S73. Ans.(b)
Sol. The correct answer is (b) “They were sceptical and didn't believe salt could be a solution to their long-standing problem”. The passage mentions that the villagers were sceptical at first and didn't believe that salt could help them overcome their longstanding problems.
No other option answers the question as appropriately and completely.
S74. Ans.(c)
Sol. The correct answer is (c) “How to grow crops that required salt, thus addressing the salt deficiency issue”. The passage states that Ato taught the villagers how to grow crops that required salt and how to build a salt mine, which were instrumental in improving their situation.
No other option answers the question as appropriately and completely.

S75. Ans.(d)
Sol. The correct answer is (d) “The soil became more fertile, and crops grew well, leading to better health and food security”. The passage mentions that the people were able to overcome their salt deficiency, grow healthy crops, and were no longer weak and sickly. This positive change resulted from implementing Ato's knowledge.
No other option answers the question as appropriately and completely.

S76. Ans.(d)
Sol. The correct answer is (d) “For finding a way to address their salt deficiency, leading to improved living conditions”. The passage concludes by stating that Ato was hailed as a hero and is still remembered as the man who saved his village by addressing the salt deficiency issue. His contribution had a lasting positive impact on the village's well-being.
No other option answers the question as appropriately and completely.

S77. Ans.(c)
Sol. The correct answer is (c) “Resolute”. The word "persistent" in the passage describes Ato's determination to find a solution to his village's problem. He dedicated himself to this goal over a long period of time. "Resolute" captures this sense of unwavering determination and commitment.
Relevance of incorrect answers:
Option a ("Temporary") refers to something short-lived and does not convey the idea of determination.
Option b ("Fleeting") suggests something passing quickly, which is contrary to the concept of persistence.
Option d ("Uncertain") is not a synonym for "persistent"; it relates to doubt or lack of confidence.
Option e ("Random") is unrelated to the concept of determination and doesn't provide a synonym for "persistent."

S78. Ans.(e)
Sol. The correct answer is (e) “Conquer”. The word "overcome" in the passage refers to the villagers’ successful resolution of their salt deficiency problem. "Conquer" is the most similar word because it also implies successfully defeating or mastering a challenge, similar to overcoming an obstacle.
Relevance of incorrect answers:
Option a ("Surrender") is the opposite of "overcome"; it signifies giving up rather than succeeding.
Option b ("Complicate") means to make more complex, which is not synonymous with successfully overcoming something.
Option c ("Maintain") is not synonymous with "overcome"; it means to keep or preserve, not to conquer.
Option d ("Retreat") is the opposite of overcoming; it implies withdrawing or giving in.
S79. Ans.(b)
Sol. The correct answer is (b) “Trusting”. The word "sceptical" in the passage describes the initial attitude of the villagers towards Ato’s claims about salt. They were hesitant to believe him. "Trusting" is the most suitable antonym, as it indicates a positive willingness to believe without doubt or suspicion.
Relevance of incorrect answers:
Option a ("Cautious") is not an antonym of "sceptical"; it suggests carefulness rather than doubt.
Option c ("Doubtful") is synonymous with "sceptical" rather than its antonym.
Option d ("Hesitant") is related to uncertainty and doesn’t convey the opposite of scepticism.
Option e ("Apprehensive") is not directly opposite in meaning to "sceptical"; it refers to anxious anticipation rather than doubt.

Sol. The right answer choice is CBAD. The sentence thus arranged is,

S91. Ans. (b)
Sol. (a) was ringing: This option uses the past continuous tense (“was ringing”). It doesn’t match the sequence of events described in the sentence. The sentence implies that the telephone rang while the speaker was in the process of going out, which makes the simple past tense a better fit.
(b) rang: This option uses the simple past tense (“rang”). The simple past tense is suitable in this context because it indicates a completed action in the past. The sentence suggests that the telephone ringing happened at a specific moment while the speaker was in the process of going out. When we use the two tenses (past continuous + simple past) together, it shows us that the simple past action happened in the middle of the past continuous action, while it was in progress.
Ex- While I was studying, I suddenly felt sleepy.
(c) ringing: This option uses the present participle (“ringing”). Using the present participle in this context creates a tense mismatch. The event being described happened in the past, so the simple past tense is more appropriate.
(d) rings: This option uses the simple present tense (“rings”). The use of the simple present tense would indicate a habitual or general action, which doesn’t match the context of a specific event that happened in the past.
(e) had rang: This option uses the past perfect tense (“had rang”). The past perfect tense is used to indicate an action that happened before another action in the past. In this case, there’s no need to emphasize an action that happened before the telephone ringing, so the simple past tense is more appropriate.
In conclusion, the correct answer is (b) "rang," as it accurately reflects the past event of the telephone ringing while the speaker was going out.
S92. Ans.(d)
Sol. (a) following: This option uses the present participle ("following"). It doesn't match the past tense used in the sentence. The sentence describes a habitual action in the past, so the simple past tense is more appropriate but also with the infinitive(to) we need to use the base form of the verb.
(b) follow through: This phrase means to complete or continue a task or action to its conclusion. However, it doesn't fit the context of someone physically trailing behind another person, which is what the sentence is describing.
(c) follow up: This phrase means to pursue something further, often by taking additional actions or steps. Again, this doesn’t fit the context of physically following someone wherever they go.
(d) follow: This option uses the base form of the verb, which is the simple present tense ("follow"). While the context is in the past, the sentence describes a repeated or habitual action that happened in the past, the usage of 'to' requires the base form of the verb. Thus, it is the correct choice.
(e) followed: This option uses the past tense ("followed"). Since the sentence talks about a past habitual action, "followed" should be the correct choice to indicate that she used to follow him wherever he went. But, the usage of 'to' needs the base form of the verb, hence, it is incorrect.
In conclusion, the correct answer is (d) "follow," indicating the repeated action of physically following someone in the past.

S93. Ans.(a)
Sol. (a) evoked: It means to bring about or elicit a particular response or reaction. This word is the most appropriate choice for completing the sentence. It indicates that the artist’s unique style and creative vision elicited or brought about a sense of wonder and awe among viewers.
(b) suppressed: It means to prevent or restrain the expression or development of something. This word doesn't fit well in the given context. The sentence suggests that the artist’s unique style and creative vision had a positive impact on viewers, rather than being suppressed or restrained.
(c) restricted: It means to limit or confine within certain boundaries or limitations. This word doesn't accurately capture the intended meaning of the sentence. The sentence implies that the artist’s unique style and creative vision had a positive and expansive effect on viewers, rather than being restricted.
(d) defied: It means to resist or challenge the limits or expectations of something. This word doesn't fit well in the given context. The sentence suggests that the artist’s unique style and creative vision instilled a sense of wonder and awe among viewers, rather than challenging or defying them.
(e) weakened: It means to become or make something weaker or less effective. This word doesn't accurately convey the intended meaning of the sentence. The sentence implies that the artist's unique style and creative vision had a powerful and awe-inspiring effect on viewers, rather than weakening their response.
Considering the context and the need to describe the impact of the artist's unique style and creative vision in evoking a sense of wonder and awe among viewers, the best choice to complete the sentence is option (a), "evoked."
S94. Ans.(b)
Sol. (a) severed: It means to cut off or separate something. This word doesn’t fit well in the given context.
The sentence implies that the musician's performance and lyrics created a deep emotional connection with the audience, rather than cutting it off or separating it.
(b) forged: It means to create or develop something strong and enduring. This word is the most appropriate choice for completing the sentence. It suggests that the musician's soulful performance and heartfelt lyrics created a deep emotional connection with the audience, implying that they formed a strong and lasting bond.
(c) ramify: It means to split up into branches or constituent parts. This word doesn’t accurately convey the intended meaning of the sentence. The sentence suggests that the musician’s performance and lyrics had a positive impact, creating a deep emotional connection, rather than separating it.
(d) disrupted: It means to interrupt or interfere with something, causing it to be disturbed or thrown into disorder. This word doesn't fit well in the given context. The sentence implies that the musician's performance and lyrics created a deep emotional connection with the audience, rather than causing disruption or disorder.
(e) disenchanted: It means to lose one’s enthusiasm or fondness for something. This word doesn’t accurately capture the intended meaning of the sentence. The sentence suggests that the musician's soulful performance and heartfelt lyrics created a deep emotional connection with the audience, rather than causing them to lose interest or enthusiasm.
Considering the context and the need to describe the impact of the musician's performance and lyrics on the audience, the best choice to complete the sentence is option (b), "forged."

S95. Ans.(a)
Sol. (a) ignited: This option means to spark or trigger something, often referring to starting a fire or initiating a process. In this context, the economic downturn is metaphorically being compared to a fire that triggers uncertainty.
(b) alleviated: This option means to make something less severe or to provide relief. However, in this sentence, the economic downturn is causing uncertainty, so "alleviated" does not fit the context.
(c) fortified: This option means to strengthen or reinforce. While the economic downturn might indeed have an impact on various aspects of the economy, "fortified" doesn't accurately describe the wave of uncertainty mentioned in the sentence.
(d) depleted: This option means to reduce or use up the supply or resources of something. "Depleted" doesn't match the context of uncertainty; instead, it suggests a decrease in resources.
(e) fostered: This option means to promote the development or growth of something. While economic downturns can have long-term effects on various aspects of the economy, "fostered" doesn't accurately convey the sudden and negative impact of uncertainty that is being described in the sentence.
In conclusion, the correct answer is (a) "ignited," as it accurately describes the sudden and impactful nature of the economic downturn triggering a wave of uncertainty among investors and business owners.

S96. Ans.(c)
Sol. Part (C) has a grammatical error. The correct form is "its tailfin" instead of "his tailfin."
In this context, "guppy" is a singular noun of indeterminate gender, and it is more appropriate to use the pronoun "its" to refer to the guppy's tailfin. The pronoun "his" is used to refer to a male subject.
Therefore, the correct form should be "its tailfin" instead of "his tailfin." To make the sentence grammatically correct, the word “his” should be replaced with “its”.
The other parts of the sentence are grammatically correct.
Therefore, the correct sentence would be: “In the pond, the small guppy flapped its tailfin back and forth to swim next to the bigger fish.”
S97. Ans. (a)
Sol. The error in Part (A) is the use of "has" instead of "have" to agree with the subject "police." "Police" is a plural noun, and therefore requires the plural form of the verb "have" instead of the singular form "has." To make the sentence grammatically correct, the word "has" should be replaced with "have". The other parts of the sentence are grammatically correct. Therefore, the correct sentence would be: “Since the police have not given a statement yet, the reporter can only make a conjecture about the crisis.”

S98. Ans. (d)
Sol. Part (D) has a grammatical error. The correct form is "associated with the eyes" instead of "associated for the eyes." The preposition "with" is used to indicate association or connection. To make the sentence grammatically correct, the word “for” should be replaced with “with". The other parts of the sentence are grammatically correct. Therefore, the correct sentence would be: “An oculist is a medical professional who specializes in diseases associated with the eyes.”

S99. Ans. (d)
Sol. Part (D) has a grammatical error. The correct form is "the market crashing" instead of "the market crashes." The phrase "the market crashing" is used to indicate an ongoing or continuous action, whereas "the market crashes" would imply a specific event. To make the sentence grammatically correct, the word “crashes” should be replaced with “crashing”. The other parts of the sentence are grammatically correct. Therefore, the correct sentence would be: “The investor sold all of his stocks after having a premonition about the market crashing.”

S100. Ans. (e)
Sol. The sentence is grammatically and contextually correct as it stands. Hence, there are no errors in it.
